GATHERING HISTORY

In Childtimes: A Three-Generation Memoir, Eloise Greenfield, her mother, and grandmother share stories from their childhood, often describing everyday things like chores, friends, school, clothes, family events, and recollections of their parents, siblings, and neighbors.

Your challenge is to interview a parent, grandparent, aunt or uncle about a person or event from their childhood. Retell that story below. Use the back of this piece of paper if you need more room.
